Sermon: When They Do Evil, You Take Action!

Bible Verses: Romans 12:17-21

By: Jeff Piepho

Date: 2-7-16

We should _____ when someone does evil to us, or our family.

(1) Do not _____ evil, but _____.

If we want to fight evil, the first goal is to notice what EVIL IS _____
(i.e. it will try to get me to do anything but _____, in response)!

God wants me to fight against evil. How: _____.

When I was Jesus' _____, _____, or ignore me: he stepped in, suffered for me, and gave up his life so that I could have eternal life and forgiveness.

(2) I must " _____ for God's wrath." If I take revenge, I'm not leaving room for God to work.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION:

A) I must be _____ enough to know when evil is starting to overcome me.

B) I must _____, except primarily at my own evil impulses. I should fight against my inclination to be personally offended by anyone.

C) I must _____ to overcome evil, with some practical piece of good. Go to God in prayer, read the Psalms, read the sermon on the mount (Matthew 5-7) and then take _____.

Always wonder... " _____ if I choose to trust him, and do good, instead of responding with evil, or ignoring the situation?"

- When someone messes with me, am I more likely to hide, fight, or run? Why?
- Who is someone who has "messed with me or mine" lately? How could I apply what I've learned?
